

I would request that the FCC not implement any proposal that would lessen Indiana's Telephone Privacy law protections.

Because of the Indiana's Telephone Privacy law our quality of time at home has improved improved. We no longer have interuped dinner conversations. Since my husband is a minister we no longer have to worry about the phone being busy when an emergency arrises.

The Indiana's law has been so efective that I no longer receive the dozen or so calls a week that I had received before being on the no call list.

A law that would decrease the effectiveness of the Indiana law, I judge, would not be beneficial to anyone who has residential phone service throughtout the USA.

Please do not decrease the effectiveness of our current Indiana law!

Sincerely,

Patricia Ann Tourangeau
